the Ministry of the Interior requested in late 1954 an improvement of the communication system for the so-called "ring around Berlin". Thereupon, the MPF ordered the district headquarters to provide a total of 180 communication technicians and communication workers on 1 January 1955. The communications equipment depots were also ordered to provide out of their stock a total of 630 kilometers of communication wires, 290 telephones and 55 teletypewriters for this project.

2. By this improvement of the communications network it was planned to establish direct telephone connections between all border police stations of the ring around Berlin and their section commanders, with no telephone exchanges interconnected. It was also intended to establish or improve a direct teletype connection to all section commanders over a special communications office.

as early as mid-December 1954, improvement of the KVP-owned network was started in the Berlin area. From the outskirts of Berlin, tie lines were laid to those KVP subposts and KVP offices which were about 5 kilometers away from the sector border. The district headquarters had to provide workers for these activities.
